WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign aid battle has cost President Johnson his first setback on Capitol Hill since becoming chief executive, and with stinging criticism of Congress he looked hopefully to the Senate to recapture some of the loss.

The House dealt the administration a double jolt Monday, upholding an $800-million cut in foreign aid appropriations and adding a surprise amendment prohibiting the government from guaranteeing private financing of wheat sales to the Communist bloc.

It added up to another obstacle in the path of the balanced aid measure and there seemed to be a good chance that final passage would have to be put off until next year.

As the House was voting 249-135 to hold spending for economic and military assistance to $2.8 billion—$1.7 billion below what the late President John F. Kennedy requested — Johnson issued a sharply worded statement.

Johnson used as a vehicle for his criticism the foreign aid authorization bill which puts restrictions on the program and fixes a spending ceiling of $3.6 billion.

In his statement after signing the measure, Johnson made clear that he considers $3.6 billion "a dangerous reduction in funds" and that anything less would represent "a policy of weakness and retreat."

In words similar to those once spoken by his predecessor, Johnson said tartly "we cannot oppose the spread of communism and promote the growth

Ranks Miss as Influential

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., has been ranked in a magazine poll as one of the most influential men in Washington.

The poll, taken before the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, ranked Mills second only to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. Kennedy was called the most influential according to his "ability to influence, directly or indirectly, the decisions of the President, the Congress, the Supreme Court and other governmental or military agencies."

The Pageant Magazine poll of Washington newsmen ranked President Lyndon B. Johnson, then vice president, seventh. Mills is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Car Hits Post, One Is Killed

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Ronald D. Gent, 25, of Wichita, Kan., was killed early today and Arnold W. Hazen Jr., 29, was injured critically when their car left U.S. Highway 65 and hit a post.

Gent's body was found in the wreckage. He was driving. Hazen was thrown out of the car. Hazen also lives at Wichita. They were in Arkansas working on Titan II missile bases.

Lawyers Try to Get Ruby Out on Bail

DALLAS (AP)—Jack Ruby's lawyers are trying to get the man who killed the accused assassin of President Kennedy out of jail before Christmas. The state insists he should be kept behind bars.

Dist. Judge Joe Brown ordered a Dec. 23 hearing on a defense request Monday for release of Ruby under bond. His trial on a charge of murder is set for Feb. 3 before the same jurist.

During this legal activity at the county courthouse, heavier-than-normal traffic continued outside the building past the point where a hidden rifleman ambushed the President Nov. 22. It was two days later that Ruby shot Lee Harvey Oswald, the accused assassin, in the City Hall basement.

A flag flies at half staff over the county courthouse, beside this spot in the edge of the business district. Fresh flowers appear there daily. Dozens of wreaths hang from a fence erected to support them.

Tom Howard of Dallas, one of the lawyers representing Ruby, applied for a writ of habeas corpus in the move to free the prisoner. The application contends that Ruby, 32, owner of a Dallas strip joint, is entitled to release under bond pending trial.

Howard also said the defense staff, headed by Melvin Belli of Los Angeles and San Francisco, wants Ruby to undergo psychiatric examination and this cannot be done properly in jail.

Star's Christmas Dinner for All Local Newsboys Is to Be Held on Friday

Hope Star's Christmas dinner for all newspaper delivery boys, regardless of the paper's name, will be held at 7 o'clock Friday night, December 20, in the main banquet room of the Diamond Cafeteria.

As in the past, the invitation is extended to carriers serving not only The Star but also those delivering Arkansas Gazette, Arkansas Democrat, Texarkana Gazette, and Shreveport Times, and the weekly Grit.

The newspaper agents are asked to notify The Star office at the earliest how many of their carriers will attend the dinner, specifying whites and Negroes. Arrangements for the Negro Christmas party will be made through one of The Star's Negro distributors.

The all-newsboy Christmas event — rather than one restricted to this paper's carriers alone — developed from the thought that possibly some boy serving the newspaper industry would be overlooked at this holiday time; therefore the invitation extends city-wide and includes the retail trading territory: Prescott, Emmet, Fulton, Washington, Butte, and other nearby towns. Registration must be made at The Star, either by letter or telephone, so the right number of meals may be prepared.

DAM DISASTER — Houses and automobiles were tossed like toys onto the crest of an unstoppable flood after the Baldwin Hills Reservoir in Los Angeles burst and spewed water and mud over a four-square-mile area. Three persons were killed in the flood and 15 injured. Homes on the right of this street were left standing; all that remained on the left side were washed out pads. More than 250 homes were destroyed in the flood. Damage was estimated at more than $10 million. Arrow points to break in reservoir.

$313,039 City Budget Is Approved

The Hope Civic Improvement Association last night petitioned the City Board of Directors to look into the matter of a feed truck that blocks the sidewalk at the old oil mill and to install signal lights at Hazel and Third.

The first issue was taken under advisement. Traffic lights will be re-installed at Third and Hazel and Elm and Third. A map showing proposed left turn lanes was submitted by the Arkansas Highway Department.

Manager Medders was authorized to install signal lights that would allow right turns on red after a vehicle comes to a stop.

The group also adopted the proposed 1964 budget which totaled $313,039.

21.4 Million Chicks in Nov.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Commercial hatcheries in Arkansas produced 21,430,000 chicks during November, 13 per cent more than in the same month a year ago and 92 per cent above the 1957-61 November average.

From January through November this year the broiler-type hatch totaled 230,847,000 compared with 221,955,000 chicks in the same period last year.

Trimble Against

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reps. E. C. Gathings, Oren Harris and Wilbur Mills voted with the minority Monday on the bill banning use of U.S. funds from the Export-Import Bank to finance the proposed wheat sale to Russia. The measure was approved 218-169. Rep. James Trimble was recorded against the measure but did not actually vote. All are Democrats.

Guilty Plea in Texarkana Murder Case

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Miller Circuit Court returned today to the chore of picking a jury to try Clinton E. Ottwell for first degree murder after one of Ottwell's co-defendants pleaded guilty Monday in a surprise turn in the case.

Leroy Callahan, 44, of De Queen pleaded guilty to being an accessory to the murder of James Henry Wallace of Texarkana who was shot to death in an auto chase in Texarkana last July 4.

Ottwell, of Texarkana; Callahan and David Roden, 43, of Hotchkiss, Okla., are charged with first degree murder.

Ottwell is the first to be tried. Callahan will be given a jury trial later despite his guilty plea. He earlier had pleaded innocent. Roden also will be tried later.

A new jury panel was summoned for today after only 10 jurors were selected from the panel of 43 called Monday.

Judge Lyle Brown told the jury panel that the state charges that Ottwell planned the robbery of Henry Hooks of Texarkana and that Roden assaulted Hooks, intending to rob him, and that Wallace, Hooks' son-in-law, was fatally shot when he pursued the robber.

The jurors were qualified for the death penalty.

Nine Miners Die in Utah Explosion

By R. GREG NOKES
HELPER, Utah (AP) — Nine coal miners were killed and another injured Monday in an explosion in what was described as a "model mine in the West."

The blast occurred at the face, or end, of one of two shafts which branch out from the end of a 2,800-foot tunnel into the side of a mountain near this central Utah community.

"They never knew what hit them," said James Diamanti, mine co-owner. "They fell right where they were working. They must have hit a pocket of gas."

State Industrial Commission officials at the scene theorized the blast was caused by either coal dust or methane gas.

It was the second major mine disaster in Utah this year. Eighteen men were killed Aug. 27 in a potash mine explosion at Moab, about 100 miles south of Helper.

Jesus Nunez, 45, was near the entrance to the west shaft, about 2,000 feet from the explosion.

The blast hurled him 200 feet, broke his arm and cut him badly.

"I know I was lucky," he said.

Nine men were working in the east shaft and said they didn't hear the explosion.

"We've been told that the mine was a model mine in the west," Diamanti said. "Every safety precaution was taken. There hasn't been a trace of gas in the area for many, many months. I just can't explain it."

Diamanti said the nine victims were drilling at the face of the west shaft and theorized a drill bit may have exposed and ignited a pocket of methane.

Explosives were not being used.

Johnson Calls for an End to Cold War

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—President Johnson today called for an end of the cold war—once and for all—and offered to join in a worldwide crusade to conquer hunger, disease and ignorance.

The new U.S. President addressed the 113 members of the United Nations in the great blue and gold hall of the General Assembly. It was his first appearance before an international gathering since he took over after the death of John F. Kennedy Nov. 22.

Johnson was given a standing ovation as he entered the jammed chamber from which the public had been excluded for security reasons.

He quickly launched into his speech in which he pledged continued U.S. support to the United Nations and made an "unswerving commitment to the keeping and the strengthening of peace."

Johnson drew a burst of applause when he referred to the dedication of the United States to the peace of the world and the betterment of mankind.

Mrs. Johnson listened to her husband's speech from the front row of a special seating section on the side of the assembly hall.

Speaking from the rostrum where Kennedy had stood on Sept. 20 to address the same group, the President declared that he had "come here today to make it unmistakably clear that the assassin's bullet which took his life did not alter this nation's purpose."

And he outlined the U.S. objectives by saying the United States wants to:

See the cold war end, once and for all.

Prevent the dissemination of nuclear weapons to nations not now possessing them.

Press on with arms control and reduction.

Cooperate with all U.N. members "to conquer everywhere the ancient enemies of mankind — hunger, disease and ignorance."

"The United States wants sanity, security, and peace for all and above all," he said.

He offered no specific proposals or major policy pronouncements beyond these brief aims.

He did suggest in generalities that a modern New Deal could build a better world, that it is time for a peaceful revolution on a universal scale to improve human welfare and dignity.

"Peace is a journey of 1,000 miles and it must be taken one step at a time," he said.

He was given another standing ovation when he left the chamber.

He asserted: "The greatest of human problems—and the greatest of our common tasks—is to keep the peace and save the future..."

"If there is one commitment more than any other that I would leave with you today, it is my unswerving commitment to the keeping and the strengthening of peace."

"The United States wants sanity, security, and peace for all, and above all."

"President Kennedy, I am sure, would regard as his best

Body of Youth Found by Hunters

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The body of a 24-year-old Lowell, Ark., youth was found by hunters on the bank of the White River east of Bentonville Monday night.

Coroner Carl McKinney scheduled an autopsy today to determine cause of death of the man, Dennis Lewis.

Lewis was being sought by Sheriff Hugh Black in connection with the wounding of an 18-year-old Springdale girl as she rode in a car in October.

Lewis had been missing since then, the sheriff's office said.

Some Relief From Cold in Few Areas

A pre-winter cold wave, longest of the season, continued over most of the eastern half of the nation today but there was a promise of a little relief in some sections.

Sub-zero cold again stung most of the northern areas from the Rockies into northern New England and northern New York state. Freezing weather again nipped many parts of the Southland.

Temperatures were as low as 13 below in Augusta, Maine, and near that mark in Rome, N.Y. In the Midwest, the mercury dropped to -11 in Lone Rock, Wis., but rose to 8 below in a few hours. Much colder weather was reported in many Midwest areas Monday, including 36 below in Bemidji, Minn.

Chicago had its fourth straight morning of zero or lower, with 7 below in northwest suburban areas.

Increasing cloudiness and light snow spread into the Plains and the western Mississippi Valley and temperatures were expected to moderate.

The mercury dropped to the 20s and lower along the East Coast and in parts of the Southeast. The 40s covered the Gulf region and most of the Pacific Coast and far Southwest.

May Have Erred in Ruling of Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Federal Judge J. Smith Henley told purchasers of the 994-acre farm of James Weir of Dermott Monday he may have erred in saying earlier they could get a writ to have Weir evicted.

Weir built a small frame home on the land after it was sold April 17, 1962, to satisfy penalties for overplanting of crop allotments. He claims a 160-acre homestead exemption.

Henley said the new owners may have to file a separate lawsuit to obtain possession of the land.

Arkansas Benefits From Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—A union claim that workers of a Huntsville plant were threatened with plan closing if they voted for the union, has been ruled not based on fact.

National Labor Relations Board Trial Examiner Eugene F. Frey said he reached the decision after a hearing on the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union's claim that employees of the Claymore Manufacturing Co. were coerced into voting against the union.

The plant employs about 100 persons. It opened in 1960.

Conviction of Communists Ruled Illegal

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal appeals court overturned today the conviction of the Communist party for failure to register as an agent of the Soviet Union.

The basic ruling of the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia was that to support the verdict of conviction the government would have to prove that a volunteer was available to register for the party under the 1950 Subversive Activities Control Act.

Throughout the trial in December last year the principal defense contention was that no such person could come forward because doing so would incriminate him as an individual under other terms of the act.

The party had drawn the maximum penalty of $120,000 fine — $10,000 on each of 11 counts, each count covering one day's failure to register, and another $10,000 on a 12th count alleging failure to provide information about Communist party officers, members and finances.

In rejecting the Communist defense contention that registration was impossible because the registrant would be incriminating himself, Judge Alexander Holtzoff of the U.S. District Court here had ruled that the Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination can be claimed only by an individual and not by an organization such as the Communist party of the United States.

The Appeals Court sent the case back to the District Court for either a new trial if the government requests it, or a directed verdict of acquittal.

The three-judge decision said legal precedent indicates "that an organization can always find someone willing, even if not legally bound, to act for it."

"But," the court added, "we think no such presumption can fairly be applied to the Communist party. Since mere association with the party incriminates

Flood Victims Get Promise of Relief

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Victims of the Baldwin Hills Reservoir disaster got a word of encouragement—and a promise of money — from Mayor Samuel Yorty.

"It's obvious these victims are not responsible for the damage," Yorty said Monday.

"They will be compensated and we will help them file claims against the department of water and power and the city," Yorty said.

Damage from Saturday's devastating flood could run to more than $10 million dollars, officials estimate.

Yorty's promise of help came as residents and businessmen picked through the mud-slick rubble below the now-empty reservoir.

Nearly 300 million gallons of water roared through a break in the earth-filled structure Saturday afternoon, crashing down on the homes below and sweeping at least three persons to their death.

Sixty-four homes were destroyed, and 82 homes and 55 apartment buildings received major damage. At least 27 persons were injured.

Cleanup crews hauling away the mud and debris also watched for a possible fourth victim of the swirling flood waters.

Mrs. Marie MacDonald told rescuers her husband, Archie 70, was snatched from their home by the torrent as she watched helplessly. She said she has been unable to locate him since.

memorial the fact that in his three years as president the world became a little safer and the way ahead a little brighter. To the protection and enlargement of this new hope for peace, I pledge my country and its government.

Johnson lauded the United Nations for successes exceeding failures. Yet he recognized that vast problems remain: conflicts between great powers and between small nations, disagreements over disarmament, persistence of ancient wrongs against human rights, tag-end problems of colonialism.

He did not emphasize specific areas of conflict and disagreement or suggest any specific solutions.

He did say what the United States wants.

He mentioned an end to the cold war, first of all.

He said his country also wants to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to nations not now having them, to push on with arms control and reduction, to cooperate with all U.N. members in conquering hunger, disease and ignorance.

Johnson let it be known in polite, subdued language that America doesn't intend to shoulder all the load. He said it favors an international aid program that is international in practice as well as in purpose. He said that "every nation must do its share."

Johnson's tight New York schedule called for a one-hour visit to the U.N. with a brief reception after his address to meet heads of delegations, then a diplomatic luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria suite of U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

The presidential party includes Mrs. Johnson and 11 members of Congress, most of them members from both parties of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

of freedom by giving speeches.

The authorization measure, he said reflects the nation's determination to maintain security by helping those willing to help themselves. But he added:

"It also reflects, unfortunately, the growing tendency to hamstring executive flexibility with rigid legislative provisions wholly inappropriate and potentially dangerous in a world of rapid change."

U.S. and American negotiations for the sale of about 4 million tons of U.S. wheat have been hung up on the question of shipping rates. In approving the proposed sale Oct. 9, Kennedy had added a requirement that the wheat be carried on U.S. ships when available. Russians have objected to the higher U.S. shipping rates.

The House amendment, designed to throw a monkey wrench into the wheat deal, was adopted by a 218-169 vote when offered by Rep. Paul Findlay, R-Ill.

nates, we cannot assume without proof that anyone is willing to submit data the possession of which applies an intimate knowledge of (the party's) workings. Whether or not such a volunteer was available is a question of fact which requires proof.

The court said it was not expressing any opinion concerning the duty of the Communist party to submit the data required by law.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal appeals court overturned today the conviction of the Communist party of the United States for failure to register under the 1950 Subversive Activities Control Act.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia said the government failed to prove that no volunteer was available who could register for the party under the act. It returned the case to the district court for either a new trial, if the government requests it, or directed verdict of acquittal.

Attorneys for the Communist party argued during the trial that no officer of the party could formally register it under the terms of the 1950 act without incriminating himself.

The three-judge decision said legal precedent indicates "that an organization can always find someone willing, even if not legally bound, to act for it."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., has written a colleague that he accelerated Public Works program will give the Arkansas economy $2 for every $1 invested by the federal government.

Fulbright told the Senate Public Works Subcommittee, which is considering the bill, that Arkansas has received over $18 million in Accelerated Public Works grants and that nearly 26,000 man - months of employment have been created in the state by Accelerated Public Works projects.

The Accelerated Public Works Program is designed to improve the economy of communities which have widespread unemployment or underemployment. Fulbright made the state-

6 Children Perish in House Fire

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Five little girls and a boy died early today when fire raced through their duplex home near downtown Portland.

William F. Harrigan said the fire started around midnight when he spilled oil while trying to light a space heater.

Harrigan and his wife, Leona, were on the first floor. Their seven children and three state wards who lived with the family were asleep on the second floor of the wood frame house.

The 40-year-old railroad employee and his wife succeeded in helping three of their children out of the house before they were forced to flee the smoke and flames. A fourth child made her own way to safety.

But three daughters and the three state wards died in the flaming house. A medical examiner said all six suffocated.

The survivors were held over night for observation at Maine Medical Center. Most of them suffered smoke inhalation but doctors said none was in serious condition.

The Harrigans' daughter Beverly, 9, jumped from a second-floor window to an adjacent hillside and then caught her 8-month-old brother John, whom the parents dropped from a window.

Another boy, Edward, 3, was also dropped to safety. Then Harrigan jumped to the ground, telling his wife: "I'll jump first and you throw the children to me."

But Mrs. Harrigan couldn't reach the other children and had to jump herself.

Genevieve, 8, made her way out alone.

Dead were three Harrigan girls, Heidi, 2, Mary Ann, 4, and Holly Carol, 6. The three state wards who died were Thomas Maley, 6, and his sisters, Tami Maley, 4, and Ramona Maley, 7.

College Bill Is Signed by the President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed today a bill putting the government in partnership with the nation's colleges to help them meet rapidly rising enrollments.

Johnson's pen put an end to a three-year struggle launched by the late President John F. Kennedy to provide federal aid for construction of college classrooms, laboratories and libraries.

The bill that finally reached the White House authorizes a federal outlay of $1,195,000,000 over three years. Its aim is to make room in higher education institutions for enrollments expected to increase from 4.2 million in 1962 to 7 million by 1970.

More than half the money — $690 million — is earmarked for grants for construction of undergraduate and junior college facilities. Each state must use 22 per cent of its allotment for public junior colleges and technical institutes.

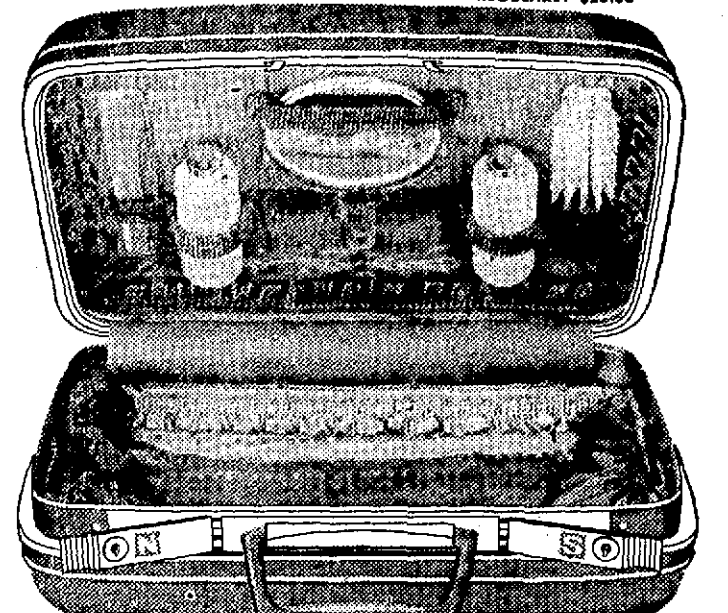

The remainder can go to both public and private undergraduate colleges for building libraries and science, engineering, mathematics and foreign language classrooms. The federal grant would be limited to one-third of such construction costs.

Another $145 million will go for establishing or improving graduate schools, with the federal grants again being limited to one-third of the total cost.

Finally, the bill provides $360 million that can be used for long-term, low-interest loans for construction of all higher education academic facilities.

Mrs. Ellis Celebrates Birthday

Mrs. Susan Ellis, one of Nevada County's oldest native citizens, observed her 90 birthday October 27. She lives on route 1, Emmet in a community of Sutton. She was born and has lived in this locality for the past 90 years. A pot lunch dinner was served to relatives and friends. A wonderful fellowship was enjoyed by all. Her long and useful life was the congratulatory expression of all. With best wishes and a continued long life was extended to Mrs. Sutton. Those attending the

Mr. & Mrs. D. Armstrong

David Love Armstrong son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Armstrong of this city, took Miss Carol Smith Burress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Burress of Springfield and Campbellsburg, Ky., as his bride in a ceremony performed last Friday evening in the First Presbyterian church at Springfield.

Vows were heard by Rev. H. William Peterson, church pastor, before a background of white gladioli, greenery and candelabra.

Music was provided by Mrs. Frances Shultz, organist, and Mrs. William Hagan, who sang "I Love Thee" and "The Wedding Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Frank Z. Smith of Louisville, was lovely in a floor length gown of white peau de soie fashioned with fitted bodice, scoop neckline accented with seed pearl embroidery, short cap sleeves and full skirt sweeping to a chapel train. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of lace and seed pearls and she carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Miss Kay McKell and Miss Martha Mainous, both of Louisville, served as maid-of-honor and bridesman, wearing street length dresses of copen blue velvet, with fitted bodices, scoop necklines and three-quarter length sleeves. Their headpieces were matching bands of velvet with brief circular veils. They carried baskets of pale yellow snapdragons and bronze and white chrysanthemums.

Lyman G. Armstrong Jr. of Little Rock, Ark. attended his brother as best man and guests were seated by Thomas Armstrong, brother of the groom, Charles R. McCracken and Barry Cooper, all of this city.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the social rooms of the church, with the bride's table covered with a white embroidered linen cloth and a three-tiered cake flanked by lighted tapers. Guests were served by Mrs. Lyman G. Armstrong Jr., Miss Lennie Pryor, Mrs. Frank Z. Smith and Mrs. Peter Perlman.

Mrs. Armstrong is a graduate of Springfield high school and Norton Infirmary School of Nursing. The groom attended Hendrix college at Conway, Ark., and will be a student at Hanover college the first of the year. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

birthday celebration were: Mr. and Mrs. John Crank, and Bob of Longview, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sutton, of Garland, Texas, Mrs. Lloyd Sutton, Longview, Mrs. Ralph Scott, Camden, Arkansas, Mrs. Guy Ellis, Jimmie and Sid, of Magnolia, Arkansas, Mr. and Mrs. Denton Cathoun and children, Little Rock, Miss Mildred Wren, Little Rock, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Langston, Emmet, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lambert and girls of Baton Rouge, La. Matthews - Purtle Exchange Vows

The marriage of Miss Jaqueta Matthews and Mr. Travis Purtle were solemnized Saturday morning December 14th at 10:30 o'clock in the beautiful Memorial Chapel in Shreveport, Louisiana.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Amy Ferrell of Vancouver, Washington and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Purtle of Hope, Arkansas.

Elder Perry Purtle, brother of the groom, of Morrilton, Arkansas, united the couple in a double-ring ceremony.

"I Love You Truly," was sung by Mr. Charles Downey prior to the entrance of the couple. Mrs. Jeri Sour was the organist. Mr. Downey also sang The Lords Prayer at the conclusion of the ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a pink wool dress, she carried one dozen pink roses and wore a white Mantilla.

The bride and groom entered together and vows were exchanged in the presence of a few relatives and friends.

After the wedding a reception was held in the home of Mr. and who sang carols led by Mrs. Ardell Clark.

Mrs. Jess Nusko, president, presided over the program. Mrs. T. B. Fenwick, Sr., gave an inspiring Christmas reading, "Santa Claus".

After the program, the club exchanged gifts from under the beautiful tree. The club presented the president with a gift of a lovely Christmas corsage.

The 7 guests who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Clark, Marvin Watterson, Jimmy Carver, Mrs. Hoelscher, Mrs. Henry Fenwick and son, Lee.

Country Club Dance

The Hope Country Club was turned into a red and silver Christmas fairland Saturday, December 14 for the club's invitational dance, the first of a series of entertainments during the holiday season.

Red balls and red birds were resplendent on the silver Christmas tree. The red and silver decorations on the mantle included flocked branches with red balls.

Sandwiches, assorted dips, and cold drinks were served from a table highlighted in silver and red. About 60 enjoyed the winter social. Out-of-town guests, all from Dallas, were Mr. and Mrs. Travis Faircloth, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Travis Faircloth, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Crossley.

Wesleyan Guild Holds Potluck Supper

The Wesleyan Service Guild No. 2 had its Christmas potluck supper on Monday, December 16 in the home of Mrs. Royce Weisenberger. The newly redecorated home was enhanced further with gay Yuletide decorations that proclaimed "Noel" and other familiar greetings.

Red and green were the colors predominating in the living and dining rooms, while an arrangement of blue Christmas tree balls and matching hurricane lamp was the focal point in the large family room where the tasty potluck meal was served. Guild President Mrs. Sam Andrews offered the invocation.

A familiar but ever enchanting story, "The Littlest Angel," was told beautifully by a guest Miss Kay Leimbacher. Mrs. J. C. Carlton and Mrs. Raymond Franks were also guests for the evening. Fifteen attended the party, and a special Christmas offering was taken for the Methodist Children's Home.

Coming and Going

Mrs. Buddy Nix of Memphis is here for a few days with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Jim McKenzie.

Mrs. Lester Godwin, Sr. returned to Dallas Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Travis Faircloth, Sr. after they had spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Godwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Faircloth, Jr. of Dallas were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Godwin, Jr.

Sub-Station Is Authorized

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Public Service Commission amended today its order permitting the Arkansas Electric Co-operative Corp. to build a $13.5 million generating plant at Augusta to include specific authority for a sub-station at Jonesboro.

The co-op asked that the order be amended for clarification purposes. It said it needed specific permission for the Jonesboro sub-station so it could connect its proposed 69,000 volt transmission line to a 161,000 volt line proposed by the Southwestern Power Administration.

Loyola Stays on Top of the College Poll

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Loyola of Chicago had to go to overtime to beat Detroit and outmanaged to down Western Michigan by three points last week. That failed, however, to dim the admiration of the experts who once again voted the Ramblers the nation's No. 1 college basketball team by a wide margin.

Most of the other teams in last week's Top Ten weren't quite as fortunate in The Associated Press' weekly poll. Four teams—Arizona State, Ohio State, Oregon State and Kansas—fell out altogether.

NYU dropped from second to eighth and Duke slipped from third to fifth.

Big gains were made by Kentucky, which jumped from fifth

3 Veterans Play Last Grid Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joe Perry rushed 10 times for 47 yards. Billy Howton caught one pass for 38 yards. Eddie LeBaron held the ball on conversion attempts. Ray Renfro failed to shake loose for a pass.

For each, it was his last game in the National Football League.

The four offensive standouts plus two defensive Titans—San Francisco tackle Leo Nomellini and St. Louis end Ed Henke—announced their retirement after Sunday's closing regular season games. The six represent three-quarters of a century of pro experience.

Perry, 36 and in his 16th pro year, wound up his career with 8,349 yards gained rushing, a mark surpassed only by Cleveland's Jimmy Brown. Perry played for San Francisco and Baltimore, and is only one of four who gained 1,000 yards or more two times.

Howton, 33 and playing with Dallas after stops at Green Bay and Cleveland, ended an 11-year career with two records—most pass receptions lifetime, 503, and most yards gained receiving lifetime, 8,459. He scored 61 touchdowns.

LeBaron, 33, retired as the No. 1 passer in NFL history on a yardage basis. His totals for 11 seasons at Washington and Dallas are 897 completions for 13,399 yards and 104 touchdowns. Renfro, a 12-year vet at 32, to the runner-up spot: Michigan, which rose from seventh to third and Cincinnati which advanced from sixth to fourth. Newcomers to the Top Ten were UCLA, ranked sixth; Vanderbilt eighth, Toledo ninth and Davidson 10th.

Loyola, which is averaging over 100 points per game in four straight victories, received 34 of the 43 first-place votes by a panel of sports writers and sportscasters to finish on top with 417 points.

The only three quints to receive first-place votes were Kentucky with five, Michigan three and Toledo two.

Kentucky, now 5-0, was impressive with triumphs of 100-89 over North Carolina and 101-65 over Baylor. Michigan matched Kentucky's record with 80-70 and 104-81 victories over Butler and Western Michigan.

Cincinnati, in its only game last week, beat Wisconsin 65-60 to boost its mark to 3-1. Duke lost to Vanderbilt 97-92 in overtime, then beat Clemson 75-72. The Blue Devils' record is 4-1.

NYU lost to Toledo 87-74 at Madison Square Garden and just managed to beat little Fairleigh Dickinson 67-58 for a 4-1 record.

UCLA, Toledo and Davidson all are unbeaten. UCLA won its fourth straight downing Kansas 74-51. Toledo's surprising triumph over NYU boosted its mark to 6-0. Davidson climbed to 5-0 knocking off Ohio State 85-73.

Only two members of the Top Ten saw action Monday night, and both won. Chicago Loyola outclassed South Dakota 112-68 and Duke defeated South Carolina 77-70. The balloting is based on results through last Saturday.

Hope, North Heights Split Two Games

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Writer

Monday afternoon the North Heights Junior Boys and Junior Girls split a pair with the Hope Juniors. The Bobkittens were clouted 28-15, but the Junior Girls blanked their opposition by almost the same margin, 27-15.

The Kittens dropped this, their second loss in three starts, early in the game. They were unable to make a goal in the entire first half, although, after they settled down a little, they actually outscored Texarkana in the second half. Parriss was high with 6 points.

The Junior Girls were able to rack up this, their first victory, with comparative ease. They held a slim two point lead at the half, but zoomed ahead in the next two periods for a wide margin. Debbie Connelly had 17 points.

Tonight the Senior Boys travel to Prescott in hopes of reviving their spirits at the expense of the Curley Wolves. The Holiday Journey kicks off Wednesday.

Hope's Holiday tournament gets underway here Wednesday with three games the opening night. The tournament ends on a Saturday.

The first game at 6 p.m. pairs Magnolia and Bradley. The second contest at 7:15 p.m. pairs the Hope and Emmet girls while the third contest pairs Emmet and Spring Hill boys.

Record Books Doing a Slide Rule Business

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The collegians are sinking baskets so quickly, the official scorers are having trouble keeping count.

Now along comes Lou Day, and presents still another problem.

Day, who plays for Lafayette, has quick hands. They only scored two points in a 75-68 loss to Columbia Monday night, but they set some sort of record for fouls. Before the official scorer caught up with Day he had six personal—one more than the limit.

Day got the extra foul—and was charged with it—before the official scorer could signal Day's disqualification for his fifth foul. They're still checking the record books on that one.

The record books, meanwhile, are doing a slide-rule business in the scoring department with top-ranked Loyola of Chicago leading an assault in which major college teams are scoring over 100 points with startling rapidity. Seven went over Monday night.

Loyola brought its record to 5-0—they've hit 100 points or more four times—with a 112-68 walloping of South Dakota. Four starters accounted for 99 points, Ron Miller hitting for 31, Les Hunter 27, Vic Rouse 21 and John Egan 20.

In other 100-pointers, Memphis State's Bob Neumann scored 33 points in a 108-75 trouncing of Alabama. Charlie Shaffer scored 32 as North Carolina overwhelmed Tulane 109-81. Dick VanArsdale collected 28 in Indiana's 110-92 triumph over Detroit. Willie Somerset hit for 33 in Duquesne's 101-81 victory over Baldwin-Wallace. St. Louis crushed Lamar Tech 113-63 and George Washington whipped The Citadel 102-81.

The only Top Ten in action besides Loyola, fifth-ranked Duke, not only didn't hit 100, but ran into considerable difficulty before subduing stubborn South Carolina 77-70.

In other struggles, Creighton edged Iowa 77-72 in overtime. Rice topped Georgia Tech 84-79 in overtime. Wichita defeated Texas 76-57. Bradley nipped Minnesota 78-75. Maryland downed Clemson 56-48 and Southern Mississippi surprised Mississippi State 65-50.

Password Tries Words Well Known

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In the past two years CBS' daytime and evening "Password" has used close to 6,000 words—and is now repeating. There are few others in the English language which are suitable for the television guessing game.

"It's not really a problem," explained coproducer Bob Stewart, "because different combinations of contestants try to guess the word each time, so the word plays differently each time."

The list was achieved by the long but simple process of studying the dictionary and avoiding esoteric words, rare words and jawbreakers.

"A word like 'pendant' is one we'd hesitate to use," said Frank Wayne, also a coproducer. "Mostly because it's not a word everyone knows."

"We've discovered that there are some words that everybody knows but which few people use in conversation even though they might write them—'stride' and 'rage' are just three of them. On the other hand, some words like 'scuttlebutt' surprised us and worked out very well."

The producers don't worry about stumblers—just as long as the guessing goes fast or funny. They keep complete files on players and words they have used, so here's never a chance that the celebrity guest will be on familiar ground.

Best words, in terms of the program, are those of substance. "Wall" for instance, is a good one, and so is a word like "flow" because it gives the contestants a chance to use their face and arms.

Because the producers can never predict how well the teammates will communicate with each other, Frank Wayne usually stays close to the word list. Occasionally, if the game becomes stilted, Wayne will replace a word with one designed to get things moving again.

Studio contestants are volunteers who are given some tests before being selected for the show.

"If they went on and did very badly, they'd embarrass themselves as well as ruin the show," said Stewart.

The celebrity guests also are volunteers—and about 90 per

Mira's Last Pass Was Picked Off

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

George Mira isn't complaining. A character with no sense of the dramatic swiped the Miami wizard's final forward pass as a collegian and spoiled an otherwise brilliant farewell effort in Miami's 17-12 loss to Alabama Saturday.

But George has a piece of the major college completion record and a hefty professional contract to ease the pain.

Mira signed with the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League Sunday, 24 hours after he matched Loyola, Calif., quarterback Don Kolsterman's 368 career completions and almost engineered a Miami upset of the Sugar Bowl-bound Crimson Tide.

Alabama's Jackie Sherill made the killing interception to choke off Miami's last drive and deprive Mira of an outright record. The Tide, triggered by Gary Martin's 102-yard gallop with the opening kickoff, led 17-0, before Mira's passes led Miami to a pair of late touchdowns. Eighth-ranked Alabama played without No. 1 signal-caller Joe Namath, suspended for training rule violations.

Mira settled for 24 completions, 301 aerial yards and the 1963 total offense championship. Then he accepted a 49er pact, ending a three-way tug-of-war between the NFL club, the American Football League Denver Broncos and Hamilton's Canadian champs.

Houston defeated Louisville, 21-7, in the only other regular season game played Saturday. The football small-fry were busy, however, with five post-season affairs.

Florida A&M walloped Morgan State, 30-7, in the Orange Blossom Bowl at Miami and won the mythical national Negro college title; Orange Coast College of California blanked Northeastern Oklahoma A&M, 21-0, in the Junior Rose Bowl at Pasadena; East Carolina College whipped Northeastern, 27-6, in the Eastern Bowl at Allentown, Pa.; St. John's of Minnesota won the NAIA crown by edging Prairie View A&M of Texas, 33-27, in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif., and the Quantico Marines nipped the San Diego Marines, 13-10, in the Missile Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

Johnson Aides Called on Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson summoned five top aides to the White House today for a conference on the budget he will send to Congress next month.

Called to the late morning session were Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, Budget Director Kermit Gordon, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, Director David E. Bell of the Agency for International Development and Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric.

The President's schedule called also for ceremonial signing of a bill to authorize $1,195,000,000 in federal aid for construction of college classroom laboratories and libraries, and a luncheon with FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Johnson conferred at the White House Sunday with Thomas C. Mann, who has been appointed assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs.

In the morning, the President and Mrs. Johnson attended St. Mark's Episcopal Church near the Capitol and joined other worshippers at a coffee hour in the parish hall.

cent of them ask to return for other sessions.

5 Inducted Into State Hall of Fame

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A former Olympic track star whose career was cut short during his senior year in college is among the five sports figures who will be inducted into the Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame on Jan. 23 in Little Rock.

The track star, Bill Carr, a native of Pine Bluff, won the 440 meter dash in the 1932 Olympics in a world record time of 46.2. The time stood four years as a world record and 20 years as an Olympic record.

Carr's athletic career was ended in an accident that broke both his ankles and fractured his pelvis while he was a student at the University of Pennsylvania. He is now executive director of the Midtown International Center in New York.

The others to join the Hall are University of Arkansas basketball Coach Glen Rose, former major league baseball star George Kell, the late Julius Petty, eight times the national trapping champ, and the late Dan Estes, considered one of the all-time great linemen at the University of Arkansas.

The inductees were announced Saturday. Joe Garagiola will return as toastmaster for the sixth straight time. Organization's total to 31.

Rose, all-Southwest Conference basketball player in 1926-27-28, and all-SWC end in football in 1927, has coached Arkansas basketball teams to seven first or ties for first in the SWC. His teams have won 363 and lost 204, making him the 12th winningest major college coach in basketball.

Kell, formerly a broadcaster with the Detroit Tigers network, recently resigned the radio job to look after his farm at Swifton and other Arkansas business interests.

Kell was in the American League 14 full seasons and compiled over 2,000 hits and a lifetime average of .207. He won the AL batting title in 1949 with a .342 percentage, and he led the AL third basemen in fielding seven times. Kell retired from baseball in 1957.

Petty, who died in 1956 in an auto accident, compiled these tramping records: Thirteen times he hit 200 x 200, 61 times he hit 100 x 100 and eight times he had runs of 300 or more straight hits. He was an all-American selection eight times and in 1954 he was a member of the world record squad that broke 499 of 500.

Estes, first a football coach and then math teacher at Arkansas State Teachers College before his death in 1894 played as a freshman on the undefeated Arkansas football team of 1909 and was captain of the 1911 team. He is still considered one of Arkansas great linemen.

He often was called away from his normal tackle position to carry the ball, and the fast 200-pounder scored six touchdowns in 1910.

Johnson Asks New Life for Alliance

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress sounded glamorous when he announced it. But it had trouble getting off the ground, grew increasingly rocky.

Now, after two years, President Johnson, as one of the first important acts of his administration, is trying to put new life into it.

Kennedy proposed the alliance, to help the social and economic development of Latin America, in his State of the Union message to Congress in January 1961. He outlined a 10-point program for it March 13 of that year.

He even liked the sound of the program and repeated it in Spanish many times: 'La Alianza para el Progreso.' He described it as 'Progress, yes! Tyranny, no!'

It was to be a $20 billion program, with the major share coming from the United States. So far the United States has committed loans and grants totaling $2.3 billion.

The Latin American governments for their part were to put in reforms to give the masses of their people a better life and more of a share in it: Tax reforms, land reforms, education, industrialization.

Kennedy pointed out conditions in Latin America: Life expectancy, 46 years, compared with 70 in this country; almost half of all Latin American adults can't read; about 50 per cent of the children have no schools to attend.

Latin America is a land where the rich stay rich and the poor are helpless. In effect, Kennedy said: Reform or perish.

On Aug. 16, 1961 the United States and 19 other American countries signed an alliance charter. They pledged themselves to "end those conditions which benefit the few at the expense of the needs and the dignity of the many."

But months were spent in getting the American end of the alliance organized. The chief American administrator, Teodoro Moscoso, wasn't sworn in until the middle of November 1961.

But just three months later, The Associated Press was reporting from Central America—despite all the fanfare—that the alliance had no clear image there and its future was uncertain.

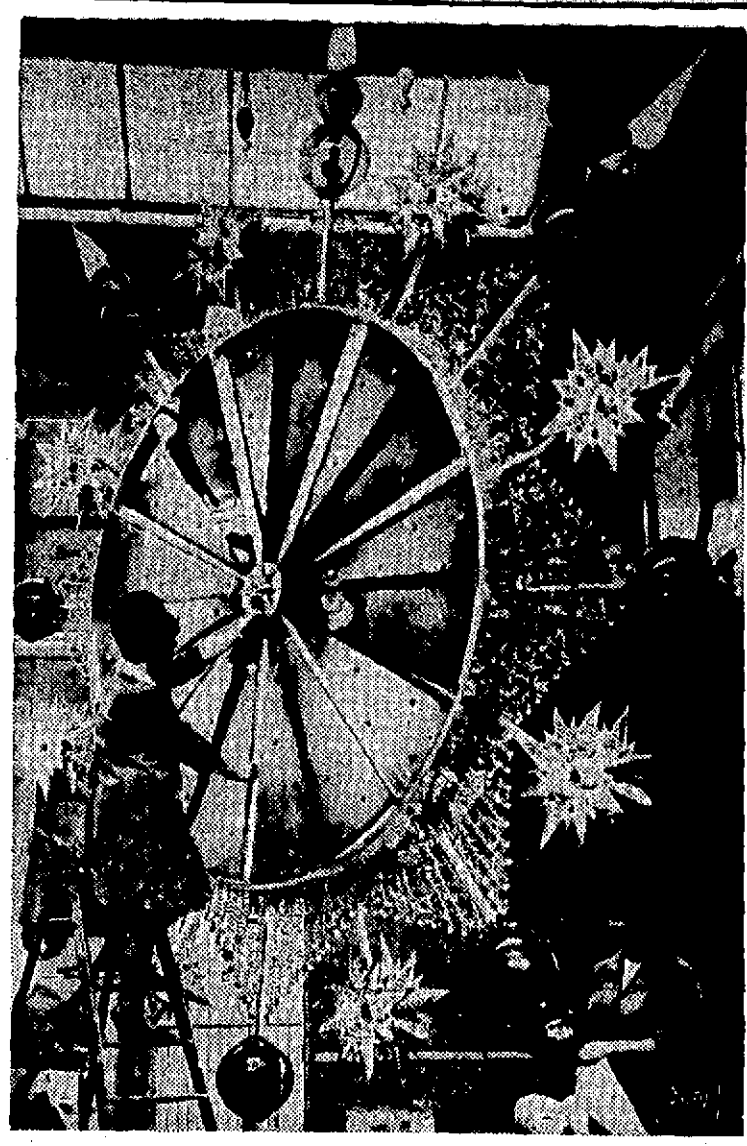

By the end of 1962, The Associated Press was reporting from Latin America that there was too much restlessness and resentment there to make Uncle Sam a permanently popular neighbor, and years of strife lay ahead.

And Nov. 15, 1963 W. Averell Harriman, undersecretary of state, went to Brazil where the American republics put the alliance under examination. He admitted there had been mistakes on all sides.

Officials in Washington and Latin America were quick to agree the alliance had not accomplished in its two years all it should have. Among the factors causing delay: Political instability in some countries, some irresponsible if not corrupt governments, economic troubles in most of them, plus opposition to reform by the rich.

And Dec. 1, 1963, an Associated Press reporter wrote after a tour of Latin America: "So far the alliance has meant little to the people of South America." One high official said it had failed to capture the imagination of the people. Another said it was bogged down in red tape.

Among the criticisms of Latin American leaders: The United States is more concerned with building immediate defenses against communism than with eradicating the basic conditions of misery and want.

House Burns, 4 Children Perish in Fire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four Newton County children died Sunday when their five-room frame home near the Moun Hershey Community, 28 miles southeast of Harrison, was destroyed by fire.

The victims, children of Mr. and Mrs. Ammon Howard Jr., were identified as Tammy Howard 3; Barbara 2; and Mary and Barry, 13-month old twins.

Howard, 31, was hospitalized at Harrison in critical condition from burns. Mrs. Howard was hospitalized in shock. A fifth child, Terry, 5, suffered only cuts and was not hospitalized.

Ammon Howard Jr., father of Ammon Howard Jr., said his dogs started barking about 6 a.m. and when he went outside to investigate he met his daughter-in-law as she was coming to get help.

The elder Howard said she told him that she awakened to find the house in flames.

Newton County Sheriff Guy Bennett, who investigated, said he was unable to determine the cause of the fire. He said wood was used to heat the house and that early morning temperatures in the area dipped to about 10 degrees.

Luther Cunningham, 65, of Marshall, died Sunday when fire destroyed the house in which he lived alone.

Jerry Lyle Kitchens, 9, of near Lewisville, died Sunday in a Shreveport, La., hospital of a shotgun wound he received when he ran in front of his father's gun while they were hunting ducks near Lewisville.

Another youth of near Lewisville, Edward A. Taylor, 14, was also fatally wounded Saturday while hunting near Lewisville.

J. W. Scroggins, 31, a Negro of Lockesburg in Sevier County, was killed Sunday when the 1½-ton pulpwood truck he was driving went out of control and overturned on state Highway 24, one mile west of Lockesburg.

Scroggins was thrown out and was dead on arrival at a DeQueen hospital.

The deaths Sunday sent the state's violent death toll to 36 for the week ended Sunday at midnight. A total of 12 persons died during the week in traffic accidents.

Ten persons died in fires, four were fatally shot in hunting accidents, two were killed in the crash of a single-engine plane at Little Rock Air Force base and three were shot.

One person drowned, one was killed when a tractor overturned, an infant choked to death, one man died of carbon monoxide poisoning and one was killed when a tree fell on him.

Connally Feels Fine But Weak

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. John Connally of Texas, wounded by the sniper who killed President Kennedy, has been released from an Austin hospital and says, "I feel fine—a bit weak—but fine."

Doctors told Connally he would be on his feet by Christmas.

"But right now I'm just exchanging a bed at the hospital for a bed at home," said the Democratic governor, once secretary of the Navy in the Kennedy administration.

Connally was riding with the President in Dallas Nov. 22 when a sniper fired three bullets into the open car. One tore through Connally's chest and right wrist and lodged in his left thigh. He was in Dallas' Parkland Hospital until Dec. 5, when he returned home. Last Tuesday, Connally was taken to an Austin hospital for treatment of an inflamed vein in his right leg, the result of a blood clot.

The first grist mill in Arkansas was constructed at the site of Evening Shade in 1817. It was operated until 1945, and is now a V. F. W. meeting place.

Today's News Around the World

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — In a prelude to his inauguration as president, South Korean strongman Chung Hee Park today dissolved the military revolutionary council he led to power with a coup 31 months ago.

"This council now folds its revolutionary banners," Park hundreds of officers at junta headquarters.

Park, still ruling under martial law, is to take the oath as elected president Tuesday and is to form South Korea's third republic in a little more than three years.

NEW DELHI (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor arrived today for a three-day reappraisal of U.S. military assistance to help India meet the threat of new Communist Chinese invasions along the Himalayan frontier.

The chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff was to confer with Prime Minister Nehru, Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan, other Indian officials and U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles before he leaves Thursday for Pakistan.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—C.K. Yen assumed the premiership of pledge to continue the previous Nationalist China today with a government's policy of "fighting Communism and recovering the mainland."

He said the government would intensify anti-Communist guerrilla operations on the mainland. Yen, 58, took over from Chen Cheng, who emphasized he had relinquished the premiership only because of ill health. ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Greece's new premier, George Papandreou, is under fire over an American airplane ordered for the royal family's private use.

Newspapers which supported the government of Constantine Caramanlis assailed the purchase.

Papandreou confirmed that the plane had been ordered. But he said the purchase had been made by the caretaker government which preceded his regime and he felt his cabinet was bound to honor the contract.

Mother Charged MEMPHIS (AP) — Memphis authorities have charged the mother of a one-year-old child who died of pneumonia with involuntary manslaughter.

Police Capt. E. C. Swann said the Negro infant, Gerald Wayne Ross, was chewed by rats while he slept. The mother, Mrs. George Ross, 27, was charged on grounds that neglect of the child contributed to his death, Swann said.

Six other children in the family were placed under custody of juvenile authorities he added.

Knicks Acquire Boozier in Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Knicks have acquired Bob Boozier, former All - America from Kansas State, and Johnny Egan, former Providence Star, in another step to regain prestige in the National Basketball Association.

The 6-foot-8 Boozier, a corner man, and the speedy 6-foot Egan, a play-maker, came to the last place Knicks on Sunday in a three-club deal with the Cincinnati Royals and the Detroit Pistons.

The Knicks first traded Dennis Butcher and Bob Duffy, plus a player to be named at the 1964 draft meeting, to Detroit for Egan and Larry Staversman. Staversman then was traded, plus an undisclosed amount of cash, to Cincinnati for Boozier.

DOROTHY DIX

HER PEOPLE ARE NOT HIS PEOPLE

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: I finish school this year. Due to illness last year, I am graduating at 19. The love of my life is an Italian boy. His parents won't accept me because I am of Indian descent. They constantly talk against me to him and refuse to let me telephone or see him. He is my age and an only son. There are three married daughters. The father is rude, mean, ill-tempered and plain rotten. When his first daughter was born he spit in her face because she wasn't a son.

I lied about my age, grades and little things when I met this boy. Then caring for him, told the truth. He said he forgave me but deep down I know he didn't. We talk of marriage. He is sweet, kind, and respects his family but continues to see me despite their protests.

His mother suffers from high blood pressure and if she knew how much we really care, would have a fit. His father would disown him! At present he's temporarily laid off, his work being seasonal, so has no money to pay for board and keep elsewhere. This makes him very irritable and he takes it out on me. He calls, comes over but there is something lacking. In my home he is always welcome.

I pray that his parents will eventually accept me, even though I am an Indian. Please help me. —Hopeful

Dear Hopeful: Often the frustrations of life turn out to be blessings in disguise. From your unhappy description of your boy friend's parents and his economic insecurity, marriage under existing circumstances would be very unwise.

The majority of Italians have a great love of life and strong family ties. While your friend's parents may be lacking the former, they are deeply devoted to their son, and that devotion is reciprocated.

There isn't much you can do about the older generation's prejudices, but you can go a long way toward discouraging alienation of affections by postponing all consideration of marriage and by attempting to establish a more casual, less romantic relationship. Discuss the situation calmly and rationally with your boy friend. Explain that since your chances of happiness together appear slim, you do not want to be the cause of any more unhappiness for him.

Entirely apart from the racial difference, your economic prospects are not conducive to marital success. At best, happy marriage is hard to achieve. And to entertain the idea of entering into so-called wedded bliss under the handicaps you describe would be foolhardy.

The time to be realistic about the future is now. You are still young and the next five or six years of your life will open up undreamed - of chapters with many new characters in them. Don't close the door. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "To Marry or Wait."

Dear Helen: Is there any cure for a situation where the wife slaves day and night; baking bread, scrubbing floors, Mr. Henry Criner, four children Mrs. Vertie Lee Joe and Willie Lee Criner of Hope, Arkansas, Mrs. Certrude Thomas of Little Rock, Arkansas and Oscar Lee Criner of St. Louis, Missouri; one brother Mr. Roy Randall of Camden, Arkansas.

cleaning, washing, ironing, and caring for four children, one of whom is sickly? The husband and father contributes only his salary—no physical help, complains about everything, acts as if he were king and treats his wife as if she were so much dirt beneath his feet.

The crowning blow was for him to tear up a lawn I had just seeded and sodded, leaving nothing but ugly gravel in front of our house. Help, if it isn't 40 years too late! —Disgusted

Dear Disgusted: Stop being a martyr. Unless you actually enjoy baking, buy bread instead. Read the women's pages of this paper for housekeeping short cuts, the latest styles, and beauty hints. Kick up your heels and have fun. If people remark on the appearance of the lawn, say that's your husband's responsibility and say it in his presence.

Dear Helen: Meddling neighbors come to my home, comment on every item I purchase, ask how much it cost and where I got such a bad bargain. They pry out the facts which irks me no end. How does one cope with such people? —S.M.D.

Dear S.M.D.: Stop them at the front door or learn to say the equivalent of, "It's none of your business," with a smile.

Dear Helen: I believed my husband faithful until one night five years ago. I was busy preparing dinner when the phone rang; he had been in an automobile accident. Another woman was in the car with him: his secret sweetheart!

Because of the children I stayed with him, but things kept getting worse. Finally, I left him. He threatened to kill himself and leave a note saying it was my fault so, like a nunny, I went. Now, I learned only last week that he is seeing the other woman again. What am I to do? —Worried Sick

Dear Worried: Do you honestly want your husband back? Staying for the sake of the children or because he threatens suicide is not the basis upon which to build a happy marriage. Love is the all-important factor.

Cross-examine yourself. Can you give him the affection he now seeks elsewhere? If the answer is yes, then get busy.

The best way for a wife to cope with a husband's infidelity is by an all out attack, not on him or on his sweetheart, but on herself. She should start off with a complete self-evaluation of personality, appearance, sex appeal and capabilities as a home-maker. Appraise your husband's needs. How far short do you fall in meeting his requirements?

After the first sweet flush of romance, too many marriages bog down in domesticity. The chief concern becomes house and children instead of each other. Since the husband usually has many more opportunities to stray than the wife, it's up to her to keep the romantic fires burning. This she does by successfully withstanding all competition, seen and unseen.

A tall order! But the stakes are high and the loser has a lot to lose. So take constructive action now. Start making yourself more attractive in every way than your husband's sweetheart. Return to the role you played during your courtship.

Put the humdrum and monotony of homemaking toward the back of your mind where it belongs. Erase self-pity from mind and heart. Your pride will provide the necessary incentive. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "The

Ideal Wife."

Dear Helen: In our trailer court there is a young couple who run a business half a block away. They leave their two school-age children alone till all hours of the morning. These kids have no one to talk over their troubles or homework with. They are very nervous and one looks so sad it's pitiful. Recently they were alone two nights and three days. Their mother is a show-off and hangs all she can on her face and back but has no love for her children. Can the Welfare or Social Service nurse put a stop to this? —A Bystander

Dear Bystander: Your problem is whether to remain a bystander or take action. I'm always for the latter. So contact whatever welfare agency you can, or better yet talk to the principal of the school the children attend. But first be absolutely sure of your facts.

Dear Helen: A divorcee friend of ours is making a play for a middle-aged married man who has a nice family and good position. We feel he's having his fling, a change of life, as it were. But this woman supposed to have a little decency, wants to grab a man, regardless of whom she hurts. It's a shame she can't be talked to before she makes a mess of herself and everyone else. Why do people stoop so low? —Grog

Dear Grog: Even middle-aged men can't be lured too far off base unless they are deeply dissatisfied with their marriages. I suggest the wife read my reply to Worried at the beginning of this column.

THE TWISTED
SABER

THE STORY: Benedict tries to organize a company of militia to fight in the Indian wars. When another man is elected commander, Benedict refuses to join.

VIII

Margaret Mansfield and Benedict Arnold were married on Feb. 22, 1767. The bridegroom had purchased a large plot of land on fashionable Water Street, overlooking Long Island Sound and the New Haven Harbor, but a series of unexpected business crises forced him to delay the building of his new house. The British Parliament imposed numerous new taxes on the New World colonies, and the government trebled its staff of collectors and assessors.

His first son, Benedict V, was born in 1768, and the happy father arrived home just in time for the event. He was at sea when his second son, Richard, was born late the following year, and was in Barbados, concluding his largest deal up to that point, when Margaret gave birth to their third child, Henry, in 1772.

Construction of the new house had finally begun 18 months earlier and the family moved into the mansion in November, about one month after Benedict's return from his latest trip. Members of the brig's crew were paid a bonus to help the Arnolds settle into the new home, a cook and serving maid were engaged and when all was in readiness, Benedict took possession.

Margaret poured the tea. Benedict's face hardened as he accepted his cup.

"In the excitement of moving, I neglected to tell you not to buy any more tea, my dear. Enjoy what you drink tonight, for it is the last of the brew that will be served under my roof until Parliament rescinds the outrageous tax we're being compelled to pay."

Margaret was terrified. "Papa told me you were associating with the radicals, but I refused to believe him."

"Radicals, my dear?" Thoroughly aroused, Benedict bristled. "Do you call Col. David Wooster, who commanded the Connecticut militia in the war against France, a radical? Do you call Col. Washington of Virginia a radical?"

Hannah jumped to her sister-in-law's defense. "I've never heard of Col. Washington, and I think that Col. Wooster is a good man being led astray."

"What do you know of political affairs?" Benedict asked disdainfully.

"I've read some of the pamphlets written by Mr. Adams of Boston. He advocates open rebellion against the crown!"

"It's my honor to be associated with Col. Wooster in the New Haven Committee of Correspondence. For your information, Hannah, we communicate frequently with Sam Adams. He's a true patriot!"

Hannah, nervously eating her pudding, looked at her brother. "I don't mean to be critical of you, Benedict. Perhaps I really don't understand the issues."

"There's no need for you to understand them as long as I'm here to interpret them for you," he said, relenting. "Trust me and you'll have nothing to fear."

The woman was deeply impressed. "Would you take up arms against the King?" Hannah asked.

"On my last visit to London," Benedict replied lightly, "I was assured by several gentlemen who are acquainted with King George that he's far more reasonable than his father, both as a man and as a monarch. Eventually, he'll realize that Lord North is giving him bad advice, and he'll listen to the counsel of saner men like the Earl of Chatham and our own Dr. Franklin. Only yesterday I read a speech that Chatham delivered in the House of Lords six weeks ago, and he summed up the way we feel. 'The Americans are a free, English people who love justice,' he said. 'Any tax levied on them alone should be voted by them alone.'"

Margaret, listening to him sip her tea with relish and secretly hoping he would change his mind about the boycott, she and Hannah had often agreed that men were overgrown boys who loved to dramatize the most trifling matters. The new mansion had been built at a cost of more than two thousand guineas; she thought it ridiculous that her husband should object to paying a mere thruppence per pound for tea.

Benedict stood. "If England is wise, Chatham's words will be heeded. If no, America will do what she must." The meal

New Look for the Church of England

By GODFREY ANDERSON

LONDON (AP) — With less than three out of 27 million baptized Britons showing up in church even once a year, the Church of England is trying desperately to develop a new look.

Aside from the gimmicks of individual parsons, whose efforts have ranged from jazzed-up services for teen-agers to so-called kitchen sink communion brought right to the home, the church at high level is bent on reforming its image.

A new form of government to give laymen more say in how the church is run has been given the green light. This plan would combine the centuries-old convocations of Canterbury and York with a new house of laymen. The new body would be known as the General Synod of the Church of England.

It would replace the present church assembly, but bishops and clergy would still sit separately and have a final veto on synod decisions.

Other reforms involve the handling of church finances.

Since 1947 the ecclesiastical treasury has been nominally managed by the church commissioners—92 of them including the archbishop of Canterbury, the prime minister, most diocesan bishops and laymen appointed by the church assembly.

The commissioners meet once a year to rubber-stamp decisions of three church estates commissioners who handle daily business. These three hold the purse strings and act as joint managing directors.

They control investments running to nearly $50 million a year and the distribution of investment income for helping pay and house the clergy.

Lately their public image has suffered badly. They have been attacked for boasting of their income and advertising their expenditure like any wealthy corporation.

Worried over the bad publicity, Dr. Michael Ramsey, archbishop of Canterbury, set up an inquiry committee headed by Sir Edwin Herbert, a prominent businessman. This body has proposed reforms.

ended, his mood changed suddenly. "There has been enough talk of politics for one evening."

This Silence Won't Last Very Long

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will never see the likes of it again. It probably will last through Christmas, but not much longer.

The Republicans are muted. Premier Khrushchev is as quiet as a doll, and Fidel Castro must be playing a mandolin, he's so quiet.

This isn't the first time a man in Johnson's spot — suddenly thrust into the White House on a president's death — was given a period of grace.

It happened when Vice President Harry S. Truman took over in 1945, after President Franklin D. Roosevelt's death.

The tasks confronting Johnson since he became president are just a mild daily routine compared with what faced Truman.

He had to end a war in Europe (Johnson's main problem now is with the budget) and another in Asia, help get the United Nations started, decide to drop atomic bombs on Japan, reconvert the country to peace, hold down living costs and settle strikes.

For some months after he moved into the White House Truman practically had a honeymoon with the Republicans in Congress. That was in 1945. The honeymoon didn't last long, the next year was a congressional election year.

The Republicans made their attacks on Truman so convincing that in the 1946 elections the voters gave them control of Congress. From then on few presidents ever had so much raucous trouble with Congress as Truman.

Johnson, a shrewd manipulator, may do better. But it's not a good bet.

Right now the congressional Republicans are laying off him. The Republican would-be presidential candidates have declared a moratorium on speech-making until after Jan. 1.

But then they'll come back, re-charged by their rest, and able to make more noise than ever, particularly since Johnson, like Truman, has to encounter an election year, this time a presidential election, with himself no doubt a candidate.

But Johnson, deliberately or not, has followed the Truman pattern in a general way up to this point.

Truman lost no time, after becoming president, in addressing a joint session of Congress to say he would continue Roosevelt's policies. Johnson did the same, to express his support for the late President Kennedy's programs.

Truman asked the Roosevelt Cabinet to stay, although there were changes later. Johnson has asked the Kennedy Cabinet to stay.

Truman paid the House of Representatives a surprise visit 19 days after taking office, and had lunch there. Twice within the 19 days since he took office Johnson has visited the House, and had lunch there.

Truman early favored a tax-aid program. Right from the start Johnson favored Kennedy's tax-cut program.

Within six months after Truman became president the Republicans began opening up on him. They seem to be getting restless already about their moratorium on Johnson.

One of them — Rep. Frank J. Becker of New York — complained Tuesday that "when Democrats call for a moratorium on politics, it's just to gag Republicans." His wasn't the only voice of complaint.

So things ought to be getting back to normal around the first of the year.

"Hurry, there's a man trying to get into my room," came the spinster's anguished cry. "Call the police, lady. This is the fire department."

"I know . . . he needs a long ladder."

A PERMANENT, COMPLETE RECORD FOR YOU ON PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S ASSASSINATION — "THE TORCH IS PASSED"

We have all just lived through one of the most dreadful chapters in American history — the murder of President Kennedy and the unforgettable events that followed.

Now the complete drama including new, unpublished material, is being put together in the form of a large (10 by 13-inch), handsome, hard cover book — by top writers, editors and picture specialists of The Associated Press. These are some of the men who had prime responsibility for telling the nation and the world about the tragedy and its aftermath.

The book's 100 pages will include color as well as black and white illustrations — some already classics and some now published for the first time.

This newspaper has arranged to make the book available to you practically at cost. For details see below.
